Oakland Independent; CW Baker, manager of the interurban projects out of Omaha, and E M Raymond, European representative and engineer, were here in an auto last Friday morning. They were going over rontes as proposed for the different lines and gathering information as to the towns and country. As now planned, the main line from Omaha to Sioux City son home Saturday night, will traverse Bell Creek valley and continue northward till it strikes the Lone Tree valley and run thence on to fords. Carl Anderson. Decatur, and from Decatur the route will probably be northward along the west side of the Missouri river. It is proposed to make another line diverging from this one in Dakota county, or somewhere near Sioux Uity, taking the Omaha creek valley route southward. This line is eventually to connect with West Point and it will in all probability come via Oakland, or near Oakland. Thus were the plans given well as on paper, and if the history of Heeney and daughter Benette, Mrs

The question now is, will it e good policy to encourage their coming to your town? Many of the smaller cities are disposed to look askance at the interorban, but if they are coming anyway we believe they should pass THRU the town rather than BY the town.
